What is a Dynamic Job Launch Form?

A dynamic job launch form is one that changes depending upon the selections your requestor makes. This is helpful when you want to ask unique questions for different types of requests. A dynamic form can change as the requester fills out the form. It saves the requester a ton of time and streamlines the intake process. In this way, they will not have to read through sections of the form that are not applicable to their type of request.
